Nursing in Practice

Description: Nursing in Practice is a bimonthly magazine that delivers accessible, relevant and informed comment on modern nursing practice in primary care. The magazine has been editorially acclaimed, not only by the Royal College of Nursing, but also by the Royal College of General Practitioners, leading medical journals across the UK and, most importantly, the majority of general practice nurses.

The content of each issue aims to shape as well as reflect attitudes and approaches to practice in key areas of primary care nursing, such as tackling long-term conditions, achieving the maximum number of QOF points, clinical governance and nurse prescribing.
