Lea's Chemistry of Cement and Concrete. Edition No. 4

Description: Lea's Chemistry of Cement and Concrete deals with the chemical and physical properties of cements and concretes and their relation to the practical problems that arise in manufacture and use. As such it is addressed not only to the chemist and those concerned with the science and technology of silicate materials, but also to those interested in the use of concrete in building and civil engineering construction. Much attention is given to the suitability of materials, to the conditions under which concrete can excel and those where it may deteriorate and to the precautionary or remedial measures that can be adopted.

First published in 1935, this is the fourth edition and the first to appear since the death of Sir Frederick Lea, the original author. Over the life of the first three editions, this book has become the authority on its subject. The fourth edition is edited by Professor Peter C. Hewlett, Director of the British Board of Agreement and visiting Industrial Professor in the Department of Civil Engineering at the University of Dundee. Professor Hewlett has brought together a distinguished body of international contributors to produce an edition which is a worthy successor to the previous editions.

Contents:
- The History of Calcareous Cements
- Portland Cement: Classification and Manufacture
- Cement Components and Their Phase Relations
- The Constitution and Specification of Portland Cements
- The Burning of Portland Cement
- Hydration, Setting and Hardening of Portland Cement
- Resistance of Concrete to Destructive Agencies
- Physiochemical and Mechanical Properties of Portland Cement
- The Production of Low-Energy Cements
- Pozzolana and Pozzolanic Cements
- Cements made from Blastfurnace Slag
- Microsilica as an Addition
- Calcium Aluminate Cements
- Special Cements
- Cement Admixtures
- Concrete Aggregates
