China Monthly Economic Indicators

Description: China Monthly Economic Indicators (CMEI) is an official statistical information service of the National Bureau of Statistics of China (NBS). As an authoritative and timely-published journal, CMEI is committed to meet the booming demands for statistics from all over the world.

It provides every month the data of more than a thousand fundamental statistical indicators, which reflect the national conditions and national strength of China. Relying on the macro-economic, regional and sector data in CEMI, readers are able to analyse the Chinese economic situation and monitor the trends of economic climates.

CMEI is a service of the government statistical department which provides statistical information services, so as to fully meet the increasingly urgent needs of all circles, particularly enterprises, academic research institutions and the international community.

CMEI is NBS' only bilingual publication of monthly statistics. CMEI helps people understand the Chinese economy with no language barrier.
