Intelligent Information Retrieval and Web Mining. Edition No. 1

Description: Modernization of publishing and newspaper industry requires an innovative solution to accelerate the processing time of information retrieval at lower cost. The purpose of the solution is to develop concepts based on web mining architecture for information retrieval using Service-Oriented Architecture (SOA). Intelligent Information Retrieval and Web Mining Architecture: Applying Service-Oriented Architecture introduces these new concepts of integrating the approaches and techniques of data warehousing, data mining, search engine, information extraction, and information transformation in an SOA environment. It also introduces a prototype that is created and examined that validates these concepts. This textbook is an introduction to advanced Intelligent Web Development areas.
