Redlining in Residential Mortgages. Edition No. 1

Description: The book is a case study of redlining in Greater Johannesburg, South Africa. The book gives an account of the existence of redlining, the reasons for redlining and why Financial Institutions are forced to practise redlining. It has a local Johannesburg view, at the same time, it explores the redlining practice globally. The United States redlining practice is often referred to in the book. The book also gives an explanation of the dilemma Financial Institutions face when funding projects and real estate in high default risk communities.
