The Economic Human Rights and The Right to Development in Egypt. Edition No. 1

Description: The purpose of this book is to review and analysis The Economic Human Rights and The Right to development in Egypt. Economic Human Rights are considered one of the basic human rights. In spite of the reforms which have been taken to increase enjoying Economic Human Rights in Egypt, it still compare poorly with other developing countries. Nearly 43.9% of the Egypt’s population lives on less than $2 a day, and 16.7% barely survive on less than $1 a day. The main findings of this paper is that improving the investment climate, developing SMES in Egypt, equity and Social Security are essential to enjoying economic human rights and to provide jobs and opportunities for young people and to build a more inclusive, balanced, and peaceful community.
