Synopsis

A subscription product first published in June 2010 reveals the many different fixed broadband offerings available in the 66 countries surveyed. It shows the diversity of products that are being introduced in both emerging and mature broadband markets with data speed and packaging being the key product differentiators.

This bi-annual subscription service tracks and analyses prices for Fixed Broadband Services including FTTH (both business and residential) and Subscriber Figures. The November 2013 edition features details of 1,179 products.

Key questions addressed in this service

- Which operator offers which speeds at what prices
- How many subscribers has an operator added over a period of 6 months.
- Which operator drops prices and which operator increases the allowance (changes made as part of an update are marked in red for easy identification)
- Who offers the most competitive prices
- What offers are available to the business and consumer markets
- A like-for-like comparison can be made using the easy to-use excel spreadsheet.
