Wenzhou Economic and Technological Development Zone

Description:

Wenzhou Economic and Technological Development Zone (Wenzhou ETDZ) rated “BBB“ by China Knowledge in a research report published today. The industrial park, approved by the State Council in 1992, is located in Wenzhou, Zhejiang, where the private enterprises are dynamic and thriving. It consists of three special zones, namely, National Economic and Technological Development Zone, Binhai Development Zone and High-Tech Industrial Zone.

The development zone has good waterway and land transportation systems. It is about 3 km from Longwan Wharf and Yangfushan Port, the two major port areas under Wenzhou Port. An extension of the Jinhua Wenzhou Railway begins in the east of the development zone and a highway leading to the airport runs just north of the zone.

In addition, State Highway 104 and State Highway 330 are located close by, and the Yongtaiwen Expressway, which links Ningbo, Taizhou and Wenzhou, runs through the zone. The zone is only 10 km from the Wenzhou Yongqiang Airport.

After 18 years of construction, Wenzhou ETDZ has become a modern industrial park combining high-tech industries such as biopharmaceuticals, machinery and electronics, IT and new materials with traditional industries such as shoes and garments.

In 2009, the zone's GDP fell 0.56% to RMB 13.2 billion, accounting for 5.2% of the city's GDP. Its value-added industrial output was RMB 9.1 billion, decreased 4.77% year-on-year. The export value was US$744 million in 2009, decreased 40.93% year-on-year, accounting for about 6.8% of the city's total.

B&Q, Coca Cola, Thailand-based Charoen Pokphand and other large foreign firms have set up business in the zone. Utilized FDI fell sharply from US$48 million in 2008 to US$19 million in 2009 due to the global economic downturn.

The latest figures show that in the first half of 2010, value-added industrial output of Wenzhou ETDZ amounted to RMB 7 billion, up 24.7% year on year, and the export value rose 24.43% to US$681.21 million.

Industrial parks rated BBB are considered attractive at an average level. They have less-than-adequate investment conditions and may have some flaws. They may be promising industrial parks but there are uncertainties regarding future development. Most of these are industry specific theme park that caters to fewer industries. There are 60 such BBB rating out of 254 national or municipal-level industrial parks where many are seeking to transform or upgrade its facilities to attract new economy industries.
