Key Highlights
The fixed-line telecommunications market is valued as the revenues obtained by operators for voice telephony and other non-voice information transmission using fixed lines (wirelines), rather than wireless systems. Only revenues from end-users are included, with revenues from other operators, as in wholesale transactions, excluded. Revenues from internet services and value-added services are included. Market volumes represent the number of fixed-line telephones. All currency conversions were carried out at constant 2015 average annual exchange rates.

The US fixed line telecoms market had total revenues of $123.6bn in 2015, representing a compound annual growth rate (CAGR) of 0.6% between 2011 and 2015.

Market consumption volumes declined with a CARC of -3.7% between 2011-2015, to reach a total of 174.7 million subscriptions in 2015.

The performance of the market is forecast to accelerate, with further very weak growth expected over the coming five years.
