Construction Law International

Description: Construction Law International is the magazine of the IBA International Construction Projects Committee. Launched in March 2006 and published quarterly, Construction Law International is a thought-provoking magazine with a balance of substantive and practical articles and news that anyone involved in the international construction industry will wish to receive. Recent articles include:

- Causation, the structural engineer and the expert witness
- Single line accountability
- Defects in construction projects
- Project financing of alliance-based projects

In addition to feature articles, each issue has regular updates from around the world and highlights from ICP-Net, as well as reviews of key construction law books.

Construction Law International is sent to all members of the International Construction Projects Committee as part of their membership package.

*A subscription to this title comprises 4 issues per annum
