Summary: Koppers Inc. Jun 10

Abstract
The ratings on Pittsburgh-based Koppers Inc. reflect weaker-than-expected operating performance in recent quarters and our expectation of continued difficult business conditions resulting from the slow global economic recovery. Although Standard & Poor's Ratings Services has seen some improvement in results in the first quarter, we expect the current economic conditions to continue to dampen operating results in the near term, particularly within the carbon materials and chemicals segment. The railroad and utility products segment is likely to be soft this year compared to 2009. Although the first half of this year has experienced soft operating results, we expect the latter half to improve somewhat as Class 1 railroads are likely to increase their purchases and try to catch up with...

Standard and Poors RatingsXpress Credit Research provides in-depth coverage of international corporates, financial institutions, insurance companies, utilities, sovereigns and structured finance programs. RatingsXpress Credit Research lets users determine the credit rating of holdings and identify key factors underlying an issuer’s creditworthiness, distinguishes the different risk exposures for new and existing deals, and provides an understanding of how their analysts interpret key regulatory, political and environmental events and their economic impact.

This product consists of a Summary Analysis: Bi-annual (at least). An abbreviated analysis containing Standard & Poor's issuer credit ratings as of the time the article was published. The analysis includes a rating rationale - the basis on which the rating was assigned - and an outlook section if the issuer is not on CreditWatch. Financial statistics are not included.
