Abstract
The ratings on Hawk Corp. reflect the company's presence in cyclical and competitive end markets, its small scale of operations, and its aggressive financial profile. Hawk designs, engineers, manufactures, and markets specialty components made principally from powdered metals for use in aerospace, industrial, and commercial markets. Hawk operates in three distinct business segments: friction products (61% of revenues), precision components (33% of revenues), and performance racing (6% of revenues). The company has fair diversity in its products, customers, and end markets. While the company's cyclical and competitive end markets are experiencing an ongoing recovery, its operating performance has been impaired by operating issues related to facility relocation. The company revised its earnings guidance for 2005; income from operations is now...

Standard and Poors RatingsXpress Credit Research provides in-depth coverage of international corporates, financial institutions, insurance companies, utilities, sovereigns and structured finance programs. RatingsXpress Credit Research lets users determine the credit rating of holdings and identify key factors underlying an issuer's creditworthiness, distinguishes the different risk exposures for new and existing deals, and provides an understanding of how their analysts interpret key regulatory, political and environmental events and their economic impact.

This product consists of a Summary Analysis: Bi-annual (at least). An abbreviated analysis containing Standard & Poor's issuer credit ratings as of the time the article was published. The analysis includes a rating rationale - the basis on which the rating was assigned - and an outlook section if the issuer is not on CreditWatch. Financial statistics are not included.
