Analysis Of The Edible Meat Sector In GCC Countries: Poultry, Beef, Goat And Lamb With The Production, Consumption, Import And Export Data Alongwith Trends For The Last Decade (2004-2014)

Description: The continued rise in crude oil prices has spurred economic growth in the GCC region. The increased affluence has led to a shift in consumption pattern from carbohydrate-based to a protein-based diet, thus augmenting the demand for meat and meat products. Growing population is another factor responsible for rise in consumption. Urbanization and popularity of the retail format together are enhancing the consumption of processed food, milk and meat.
