Description: IT can be defined as an integrated platform consisting of hardware, software, and services. Organizations have IT departments and are responsible for storing, safeguarding, processing, transmitting, and retrieving information. IT enables a smooth flow of information across an organization. IT departments manage all IT-related services, software, and solutions, integrating and streamlining them with various processes, thus facilitating a smooth flow of organizational information. They also help organizations to align their business processes with various technologies and improve overall efficiency.

The analysts forecast the IT market in Germany to grow at a CAGR of 3.85 percent over the period 2014-2019.
