Global Education PC Market 2015-2019

Description:
In the recent past, several changes have been witnessed in learning and teaching methodologies. There is enhanced focus on providing innovative teaching methods and relevant IT tools to the students and staff for improved efficiency and improving the overall learning process. In addition, increased dependency on digitized education has forced various countries to introduce computers to facilitate learning through new mechanisms. This has eventually increased the demand for educational PCs.

The analysts forecast the Global Educational PC market to grow at a CAGR of 13.66 percent over the period 2014-2019.
