Global Ballistic Protection Market 2015-2019

Description: About Ballistic Protection
Ballistic protection equipment protects both the soldiers and homeland security and law enforcement forces and vehicles (army and homeland security and law enforcement forces and private officials) against various materials such as bullets, explosive materials, falling glass materials, mortar, and mines. It also protects the soldiers and homeland security and law enforcement personnel from the electric shocks and heat, chemicals, biohazards, and physical hazards. The growing violence and the increase in the number of terror attacks is leading to high demand for ballistic protection equipment.

The analysts forecast the Global Ballistic Protection market to grow at a CAGR of 5.21 percent over the period 2014-2019.
