Global Energy Management Systems Market Outlook 2020

Description: The latest developments in the field of technology are allowing greater insight into energy procurement and energy usage. With the rising demand of power consumption and growing demand and supply gap, energy management systems are gaining worldwide popularity by identifying energy-saving opportunities. These systems reap long-term benefits by continually managing energy performance. With continuous increase in power costs, there is a rise in demand for a more efficient electricity distribution and management platform. The global energy management system market is estimated to grow at a CAGR of around 20% during 2015-2020 due to highly volatile electricity prices, government regulations and growing awareness among consumers.

The report “Global Energy Management Systems Market Outlook 2020”, identifies and describes the market dynamics in important segments of energy management, thus clearly highlighting the areas offering promising growth potentials. On studying the market thoroughly, we observed that trends like increasing usage of smart grid services, regulatory initiatives to control energy consumption, price fluctuations in global energy market are propelling the demand for energy management systems worldwide.

In the report, the market size has been studied in two major parts, by segment and by application. Our analysis deciphers that energy management systems like various hardware (smart meter, sensor, smart thermostat) and software are the main components of the growth of energy management system industry. The report also discusses about the growth potential of application market that includes home energy management, building energy management and industrial energy management systems.

In addition to this, the report includes an in-depth regional analysis of the major energy management systems markets. Our study reveals that although North America and Europe hold the maximum market share in the international front, spurring demand in the Asia-Pacific, Latin America and Middle-East regions is driving the global energy management systems market further.

Also, a thorough analysis has been conducted on industry players that will help the client to develop an understanding of the competitors in the energy management systems market. Overall, the report is likely to help clients to analyze the leading-edge opportunities critical to the success of the energy management systems market, providing them with an optimum source of knowledge and statistics.

3. Global Energy Sector - An Overview
4. Industry Trends and Drivers
   4.1 Increasing Usage of Smart Grid Services Boosting the Market
   4.2 Cost Efficient Solutions Driving the Market
   4.3 Regulatory Initiatives in Favor of the Industry Boom
   4.4 Price Volatility in Energy Market Boosting the Growth
5. Global Energy Management Systems Market Outlook to 2020
   5.1 By Segment
      5.1.1 By Equipment
      5.1.1.1 Smart Meter
      5.1.1.2 Smart Thermostat
      5.1.1.3 Sensors
      5.1.2 By Software
      5.2 By Application
      5.2.1 Home Energy Management System
      5.2.2 Building Energy Management Systems
      5.2.3 Industrial Energy Management System
6. Regional Analysis
6.1 North America
6.2 Europe
6.3 Asia-Pacific
6.4 Latin America
6.5 Middle East and Africa
