Global Home Office Furniture Market 2015-2019

Description:
About Home Office Furniture

The concept of home offices soared while the world was dwindling in financial crunch during 2008-2009 and the Eurozone debt crisis in 2011-2012. The demand for home office furniture increased worldwide, especially in the Americas and European countries. The increased penetration of desktop computers demands for respective furniture set up that includes at least a chair and a desktop table. Besides being used as an office, home offices are used for other purposes. Therefore, the furniture set up demands such customization that it conceals files and other office equipment while not in use. Therefore, multi-functional versatile furniture are gaining popularity over other home office furniture.

The analysts forecast the global home office furniture market to grow at a CAGR of 5.58% during the period 2014-2019.
