English Language Training (ELT) Market in China: Trends and Forecast 2015-2019

Description:
Language learning has gained momentum over the years. Among the numerous languages spoken worldwide, English has emerged as the most preferred language, after Mandarin. English is spoken by more than one billion people worldwide and is the most popular second language learned globally. The growing number of English language learners can be attributed to globalization, urbanization, and the prospects of better education and employment opportunities.

The English language training market in China, mainly represented by the private institutes, comprises more than 50,000 English language schools, with 20,000 being registered players. With more than 400 million English learners, the market has tremendous opportunities for the vendors. The majority of players employ traditional methods of classroom teaching with prints and written material. However, advances in technology and awareness among consumers have necessitated the incorporation of Internet and digital methods into the process.

The analysts forecast the English language training market in China to grow at a CAGR of 18.75% over the period 2014-2019.
