2015 China Surgical Procedure Volumes Database

Description:
This in-depth procedure volumes database quantifies current and forecast (2010-2019) procedure volumes across a spectrum of medical segments in some of the most promising and emerging markets.

Extensive primary and secondary research methods were used to develop this database. This product is maintained and refined by analysts on a real-time basis and updates will be released on an annual basis. Customers have direct access to the analyst team to discuss the data. Customers are able to request coverage of new procedures for future updates allowing them to further customize this resource to their unique needs.
