Global Feed Enzymes Market 2015-2019

Description: Market outlook of feed enzymes

Market research analysts predict the global feed enzymes market to grow at a rate of 7% during the forecast period. The increase in global meat consumption is the key growth driver for this market. The per capita meat consumption globally is around 88 pounds per annum. Animal feed enzymes are an essential ingredient in the nutritional intake in animals, resulting in high-quality animal products.

However, the growing concern regarding the safety of animal feed is expected to deter the market growth during the forecast period. The FDA has passed regulations to ensure the safety of animal feed, medicated feed, and pet food. Manufacturers need to follow the regulations laid out by the FDA and are responsible for producing safe feed and pet feed. For instance, mammalian meat and bone meal were banned from all farm animal feed in the EU as they were linked to the spread of Bovine Spongiform Encephalopathy in cattle.
