
Description: The Europe Non Lethal Weapons Market is expected to grow at a CAGR of 5.28% till 2020. The immigration crisis, which intensified in 2015, has the potential to pose a threat in the future in Europe. 2015 was a strife torn year for Europe, which saw unprecedented attacks from terrorist organizations like ISIS. The situation will get intensified in the future and coupled with the massive influx of refugees from countries like Syria and the ongoing economic crisis; there can be a massive wave of civilian protests and unrests going on in the future. There exist severe anti immigrant sentiments in Germany, UK and France, which could turn violent as well. These factors as a whole can have a significant impact on the adoption of non-lethal weapons

Eastern European countries, which lagged considerably behind their western counterparts until recently, have been catching up recently. Poland has emerged as a major spender and can be a potential market in the future. France, Germany, United Kingdom will lead the growth in the Europe Non Lethal Weapons Market. Crowd control weapons will record impressive levels of growth in the continent during the forecasted period.
