
Description:
According to a new market report, the future of the epoxy curing agent in the global adhesives industry looks good, with opportunities in the polyamide, aliphatic, cycloaliphatic, dicyandiamide, amidoamine, and polymercaptan. The epoxy curing agent in the global adhesives industry is forecast to grow at a CAGR of 4.0% by value from 2015 to 2020. The major drivers of growth for this market are growth of end-use industries and replacement of traditional fasteners with adhesives.

In this market, polyamide, aliphatic, cycloaliphatic, dicyandiamide, amidoamine, and polymercaptan are the major products used as curing agents in the global adhesives industry. Polyamide is the largest product segment and is expected to remain the same during the forecast period. Lucintel predicts that the demand for dicyandiamide is expected to witness the highest growth rate in the forecast period supported by growth of end-use industries.

Asia Pacific is expected to remain the largest market due to growth in the epoxy adhesive industry. Asia Pacific and North America are expected to show above average growth during the forecast period due to increasing demand of epoxy adhesive in the automotive, aerospace, and other industries.

For market expansion, the report suggests new product development, where the unique characteristics of epoxy curing agent can be capitalized. Some of the innovation areas in epoxy curing agent could be in the areas of curing time and pot life.

Emerging trends, which have a direct impact on the dynamics of the industry, include development of epoxy curing agent with low temperature cure and long pot life. Air Products, BASF SE, Huntsman, Momentive, and Dow Chemicals are among the major players of epoxy curing agent market in the global adhesives industry.
