Evaluating Your Nonprofit Continuity Plan: Best Practices for Organizational Resilience

Description: Make sure your nonprofit is prepared and protected by a solid continuity plan.

Is your organization fully prepared for the next disruption or disaster? How does your continuity plan measure up to current best practices? This topic will answer both of these questions by taking you through a resilience scorecard assessment of your current plan, followed by a detailed review of current best practices, and ending with an action plan to improve current plans and overall organizational resilience. Regardless of the state of your current continuity plan, whether you are just getting started or have a comprehensive plan already in place, this information will help you assess, benchmark, and improve with clear and actionable recommendations. Don't miss this unique opportunity to improve your organization's plan and preparation for long-term resilience to weather the next storm, disaster, or crisis.

Learning Objectives:
- You will be able to review mitigation; threats and risks to an organization.
- You will be able to discuss preparation; developing teams and resources.
- You will be able to identify initial response plans for life safety, communications and crisis management.
- You will be able to describe full recovery plans for operations, facilities, technology, staffing, and finances
