Global Healthcare BPO Market 2016-2020

Description: About the Healthcare Business Process Outsourcing (BPO) Market

BPO is a segment of outsourcing that consists of subcontracting business processes of an organization to a third-party vendor that has expertise in the required domain. These vendors then administer and manage the selected activity based on defined and measurable performance criteria. It helps clients increase their operational efficiency, concentrate on core competencies, reduce time-to-market, obtain access to fresh talent with experience in the latest technologies, and, in the long run, build an organization with an economical cost structure. Several healthcare providers adopt BPO services due to proven benefits of cost reduction, improved patient care services, and maximized staff efficiency.

The analysts forecast the global healthcare business process outsourcing (BPO) market to grow at a CAGR of 5.83% during the period 2016-2020.

Covered in this report

The report covers the present scenario and the growth prospects of the global healthcare business process outsourcing (BPO) market for 2016-2020. To calculate the market size, we consider revenue generated from BPO vendors from their healthcare BPO divisions.
