China: Top 30 Crop Protection Companies 2016

Description: This is the first comprehensive China Top 30 Crop Protection Companies report, derived from primary market research throughout the regions and provinces. It is copiously illustrated throughout with totally original data.

Given the current interest in China's growing clout in the global crop protection sector, the author's believe there is further scope for both consolidation and diversification, both in the domestic market and beyond.

The Chinese crop protection market is valued at US$5.2 billion at provincial distributor level, making it the third largest in the world. Around two-thirds of the market is generic, and domestic products account for 65%, while imported products account for 35%.

The authors examine each major Chinese CP company in detail - their history and evolution; products; sales; manufacturing capabilities; market positioning and key drivers; and R&D pipeline strategies.
