An elevator or lift can be defined as a machine installed in buildings to carry, lift, transport or move people and goods from one floor to another. An elevator can be used in various types of settings such as residential complexes, commercial buildings, malls, hospitals, etc., for moving passengers or goods from one level to another.

Rising demand for elevators in India can be attributed to increasing construction of high rise buildings, growing real estate sector, increasing urbanization coupled with rising government initiatives such as smart city and AMRUT city projects in the country. In addition, growing government focus towards building high class infrastructure coupled with rising investment on improvement of public infrastructure such as construction of new airports and metro rail projects in large cities is driving demand for elevators in India. Companies involved in manufacturing elevators are also increasing their focus on manufacturing smart and energy efficient elevators.
