Cancer Vaccines - Patent Overview in the years 2011 - 2016

Description: Cancer vaccines are biological preparations that stimulate or strengthen a person's immune system against cancer. Cancer vaccines are usually administered intravenously. They can be used for both adults and children. The vaccines can be broadly classified into prophylactic and therapeutic vaccines. Prophylactic vaccines are used for the prevention of cancer, whereas therapeutic vaccines are used for a treatment of the disease.

The market for cancer vaccines is much smaller than other cancer therapeutic categories. The size of the market can be attributed to the nascent stages of industry life cycle and the late introduction of the vaccines in the market. To tap this market, many global companies are actively investing in cancer vaccine development. The market penetration is expected to increase with the increase in competition among the various pharmaceutical companies to obtain a larger portion of this market. The overall growth strategy seems to focus on increasing research combined with developing new and innovative products and obtaining exclusive rights to use their product in an effective manner which is possible only in the form of patents.

Who can use the report?

R&D personnel
- Helps in mapping the big players in the broad spectrum of the technology

Contents:
1. Objective
2. Overview
3. Search Strategy
   Searches run to retrieve last 5 year related patents
4. Patent set segmentation
   (The patents obtained in the searches would be segregated based on the top 2 or 3 major categories on the search database itself.
   The patents can also be segregated by performing a detailed manual analysis where every patent would be read and the information would be listed under the categories. If the detailed analysis of each and every patent is required, the requestor can ask for the patent analysis report)
5. Categorization Tree
   (This represents the general overview of the major concepts disclosed in the patents and the number of patents in each segment)
6. IP Publication Trend
   (Graph 1: Patent count based on earliest publication year Graph 2: Patent count based on earliest priority year)
7. Top 10 Assignees Graph
8. Research Breadth across various jurisdictions: Key Statistics
   (Geographical distribution of patents with count of records, filing years and key assignees)
9. White Space Matrix (Technology)
   (Possible number of charts and graphs will be provided for the major categories of the patent set)
10. Legal Status Graph
11. Summary
12. Disclaimer
   Note: To have
   a) In-depth patent analysis
   b) Top Assignee - Key statistics
   c) Top Inventors - Key Statistics
   d) Companies new in technology space
   e) More charts & graphs for the technological data existing in the patents
   f) Patent Overview for more (say 6 or more) number of years or with no restriction of the years.
