Premises Liability: Investigation and Discovery

Description:
Learn about the latest issues associated with premises liability.

This topic will provide an understanding of the various duties owed by business owners to individuals who may enter their premises. We will also discuss ideas for businesses to consider in order to help fulfill those duties, and thus reduce the risk of litigation. If an incident does occur, there are a number of items to take into consideration as part of the post-incident investigation, not only to prepare for possible litigation, but also for risk management purposes.

This topic will discuss the investigatory process and what to be mindful of as the investigation proceeds. Finally, we will talk about discovery in premises liability cases and how some courts are ruling on discovery issues.
