The Capital Growth Letter

Description:

The Capital Growth Letter is a highly graphic monthly newsletter with an emphasis on technical analysis. Covered are stocks, bonds, precious metals, commodities, the dollar and the international markets. It utilizes a technically driven asset allocation approach and provides equity analysis based on a proprietary industry group and sector analysis program.

What are Bollinger Bands?
Bollinger Bands are curves drawn in and around the price structure that provide relative definitions of high and low.

What are Bollinger Bands used for?
Knowing whether prices are high or low the investor/trader can make rational investment decisions by comparing price action to the action of indicators.

What can Bollinger Bands be applied to?
Most anything: stocks, indices, futures, currencies, mutual funds...

How are Bollinger bands calculated?
The base for the bands is a moving average and the band's width is determined by volatility.

Who created Bollinger Bands?
John Bollinger, CFA, CMT

The Capital Growth Letter will provide you with specific investment advice, improve your trading skills, and teach you how to analyze the market yourself.

John Bollinger, CFA, CMT is best known for his Bollinger Bands and for his years as a commentator on CNBC. If you've seen his segments on CNBC and wished he had time to go into more details his Capital Growth Letter is for you!

John Bollinger has been publishing The Capital Growth Letter since 1988 and his loyal readers can tell you he does far more than comment on the market and provide profitable investment recommendations. Reading John's monthly letter is a constant learning he experience. He doesn't just tell you what to do. John teaches you how to analyze the market so you can make better investment decisions for yourself.

But the heart of the newsletter is John's overview of the markets and his in detail analysis of stocks, bonds, precious metals, commodities, the dollar and the international markets.

Every month you get charts, analysis and commentary on the markets and timely investment recommendations. And the Monday weekly hotline keeps you up to date between issues.
