Fixed Wireless Networks Worldwide

Description: The speed of growth and pace of developments in fixed wireless network (FWN) and wireless local loop (WLL) technology is both enabling and driving a demand for broadband services the world over, particularly in developing countries, and in rural areas within the "developed" countries. At the same time, new entrants in established fixed markets are deploying FWN technology in both licensed and unlicensed frequency bands in order to expedite and facilitate rapid market entry. Incumbent wireline operators are having to look over their shoulders! OR join the revolution.

With FWN/WLL licences issued in nearly 140 countries around the world, and more being licensed every week, wireless broadband is set to become a major international business, which means that equipment vendors, regulators, licensees and their partners/investors need to examine the wider impact of market development.

To meet the need for this information, Telecom Publishing House has launched Fixed Wireless Networks Worldwide (FWNW), a unique intelligence resource providing key information on over 730 operating licences issued/pending/networks in operation worldwide. The documents in this database have been split into three primary sections, each comprising multiple views:
