Synopsis

Essential resource for top-line data and analysis covering the Asia-Pacific fixed line telecoms market. Includes market size and segmentation data, textual and graphical analysis of market growth trends, leading companies and macroeconomic information.

Key Highlights

- The fixed-line telecommunications market is valued as the revenues obtained by operators for voice telephony and other non-voice information transmission using fixed lines (wirelines), rather than wireless systems. Only revenues from end-users are included, with revenues from other operators, as in wholesale transactions, excluded. Revenues from internet services and value-added services are included. Market volumes represent the number of fixed-line telephones. All currency conversions were carried out at constant 2016 average annual exchange rates.
- The Asia-Pacific fixed-line telecoms market had total revenues of $142,192.9m in 2016, representing a compound annual rate of change (CARC) of -5.6% between 2012 and 2016.
- Market consumption volumes declined with a CARC of -3.3% between 2012 and 2016, to reach a total of 427.6 million fixed-line telephones in 2016.
- The Asia-Pacific market is forecasted to produce improved growth over the coming years, but this is largely attributable to growth in the Chinese market. Whilst India is an expanding market, the rate is not particularly strong which explains why Asia-Pacific performance as whole has been weaker than China.
