Key Highlights
The air freight sector is defined as consisting of revenues generated from freight transportation by air. Units of volumes are measured in freight ton-kilometers (FTK). Air freight volume, consisting of freight, express, and diplomatic bags, includes both domestic and international freight which for the purposes of this report are counted at each flight stage. Value represents the revenue obtained by airline companies from freight transportation. Any currency conversions used in the creation of this report have been calculated using constant 2015 annual average exchange rates.

The US air freight sector is forecast to generate total revenues of $13.2bn in 2016, representing a compound annual rate of change (CARC) of -3.5% between 2012 and 2016.

Sector consumption volume is forecast to decline with a CARC of -2.3% between 2012 and 2016, to reach a total of 35.7 billion FTK in 2016.

The USA holds both a strong international and domestic air freight industry owing to it geographical size and location.
